

Area of support for students with specific needs

The Faculty of Education at Comenius University in Bratislava has long and intensively positioned itself as an inclusive institution. It provides an open space for students with specific needs, offering appropriate support through coordinators for various types of student needs. Coordinators, along with individual faculty members, participate in ensuring adequate adjustments and support services at the university level, thereby creating a generally accessible inclusive academic environment. Strategic goals in this area will primarily include:

- Gradual architectural debarrierization of individual faculty buildings;
- Efforts to create universal design in education;
- Eliminating physical, communicational, social, and psychological barriers;
- Openness to various groups of applicants/students;
- Personalized academic support and approaches for students with specific needs;
- Ensuring appropriate conditions, material-technical support, and generally accessible academic environments for students with specific needs;
- Providing support services and making appropriate adjustments to meet the needs of students with specific needs throughout their university studies.
